Carlos Davenport, a member of The UTSA Office of P-20 Initiatives Collegiate G-Force Mentorship Program since September 2010 (work study program funded by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board that provides mentorships for high school students while promoting a college going culture) and a senior at the University of Texas at San Antonio, received the highest University Awards on Thursday, March 31, 2011. Carlos was honored and received the award as the most outstanding student in the College of Public Policy. This award is given to a student that has both excelled in academics and has demonstrated a wealth of Leadership within his or her college. Carlos’ senior independent study, entitled “Muslims and Minorities still are being discriminated against post 9/11 attacks on the U.S.” granted him this award. On Friday April 1, 2011, Carlos was inducted into the University’s Who’s Who among UTSA Students & Who’s Who among College Students in American Universities. Each year UTSA awards only 180 of their 30,000 students for outstanding leadership, scholarship, academia, and community service. Carlos graduates on Saturday, May 7, 2011 with a major in Criminal Justice with a concentration in Legal Issues and Adjudication and a minor in Political science. Congratulations Carlos!
